Vortrag: Dipl. Ing. U. Schnuis

An aerial photograph showing a village with numerous houses, streets, and green spaces, surrounded by large agricultural fields. The village is located in the center-right of the image, with fields to the left and bottom. The houses are mostly small, with dark roofs, and are clustered together. There are some larger buildings and a parking lot visible. The fields are mostly yellowish-brown, indicating they might be harvested or dry. There are some green patches, possibly grass or young crops. The overall scene is a typical rural landscape.

An aerial photograph of a residential area, likely a village or small town, with a dense cluster of houses and surrounding fields. The houses are mostly small, with red roofs, and are arranged in a grid-like pattern. The surrounding fields are green and yellow, indicating different crops or stages of growth. The overall scene is a typical rural landscape.
